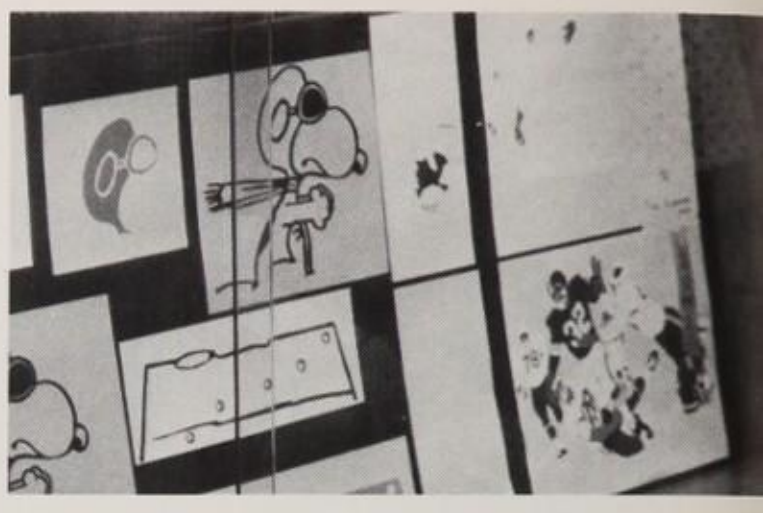
This was the year for . . . Trojan Country

This is Trojan Country
The Foyer, the Auditorium, M'Cann Gym
The Art Wing, Science Labs and Cafeteria
All are part of what Bloom students
Proudly call their school
A new set of library doors, a new look
For the front entrance. The swimming pool
The football field, the parking lot,
The Deans' office—all are an integral part
Of the life of every Bloom student
New teachers, new students, building changes
All add up to a new look for Trojan Country



Trojan Country is where students can enjoy good food and conversation in pleasant surroundings.

Lunch time is not only a time for eating. It is a time to relax and to discuss a date or to talk over the events of the day.

A hall locker to keep books and coats in is everyone's personal Trojan Country property.

This was the year for . . . Trojan Spirit

From shy freshmen to outgoing seniors
Trojans will be Trojans, and these Trojans
Were full of Bloom spirit this past year.
'Teahouse' brought the Orient to Bloom
AFS Musical—'Birdie,' a smashing success
Trojans capture regional basketball crown
Footballers give spiriters an exciting year
Trojan swimmers take second in SSL
Trojan track team vaults to fourth in state
Trojan cagemen capture SSL title
Golfers tee to their first league crown
Trojans hop to music at successful dances
Trojans build Trojan spirit for pep parade
Trojans pack athletic dep't. for Gym Jam
Trojan choirs sing out Trojan Spirit
Trojans enthused with election posters
Trojans vs. faculty—split decision
'Emerald City'—success through work
Student Council Week summarizes each Bloomite's
True definition of TROJAN SPIRIT!!

This was the year for . . . Trojan Power

Bloom has more than its share of Trojan Power
Trojan teams were blessed with many Individual stars. A basketball superstar
An outstanding quarterback and pitcher
A state champion pole vaulter, and an Excellent all-around athlete.
A Trojan basketball team that won
The regional tournament, a track team that Tied for fourth in the state. Baseball
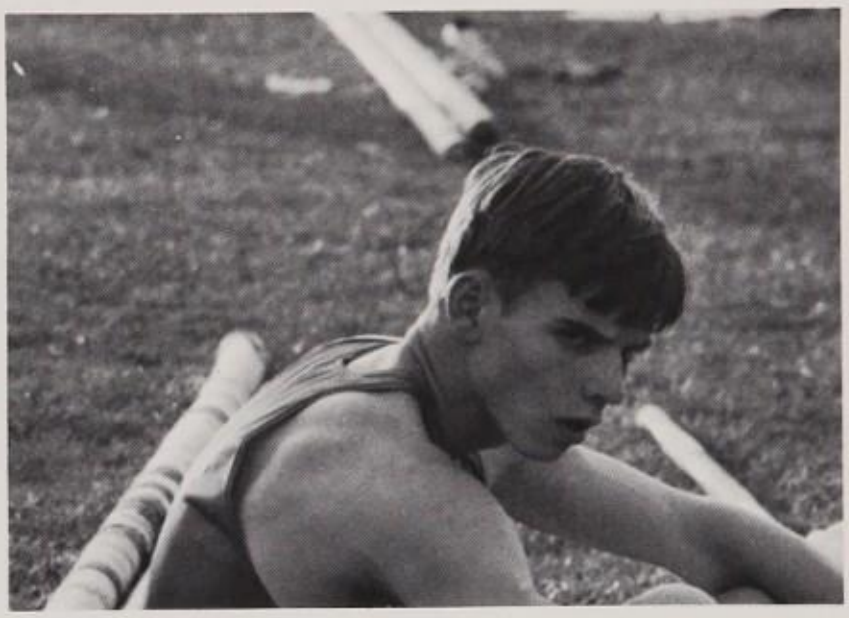
And golf teams that both won South
Suburban league championships.
This is the Trojans' contribution to sports

Trojan Power is Oliver Alexander leading the mighty Trojans onto the basketball courts before a game with Thornton.



Trojan Power is a look of cool confidence, worn by State Champion pole vaulter Jan Johnson.

On your mark, get ready, . . . and junior Tim Holt displays Trojan Power in the varsity low hurdles.

English Department offers variety of courses

Mrs. Wiedenheft instructs Lois Sigler and Robert Leach in using a reading pacer to improve speed, in the Junior-Senior reading lab.

Four years of many varied English courses are an important part in the academic program of all Bloom students. No matter what the interest and abilities of the student, there seems to be an English course or part of a course, suited for that individual.

The English Department strives to increase the knowledge and interest of all students in the skills of English which then can be applied to other fields of interest. English courses at Bloom have changed from the traditional grammar oriented courses, to those which emphasize the ability to analyze, interpret and write effectively.

Under the aegis of the English Department is an experimental program at the freshman level, in which students are involved in exciting activities such as writing, acting and editing their own films.

Specialization follows a mastery of basic skills in the first two years of curriculum. The third year of English is American Literature and covers the writers and literature of the United States. Finally in the Senior year students are able to choose from a variety of courses such as English Literature, World Lit, Senior Comp. and Drama.

Kathy Mumford, Tyrone Newton, Sue Keller and Wayne Buehrer discuss a research paper for a group project in Mrs. Versluis's Senior Composition class.

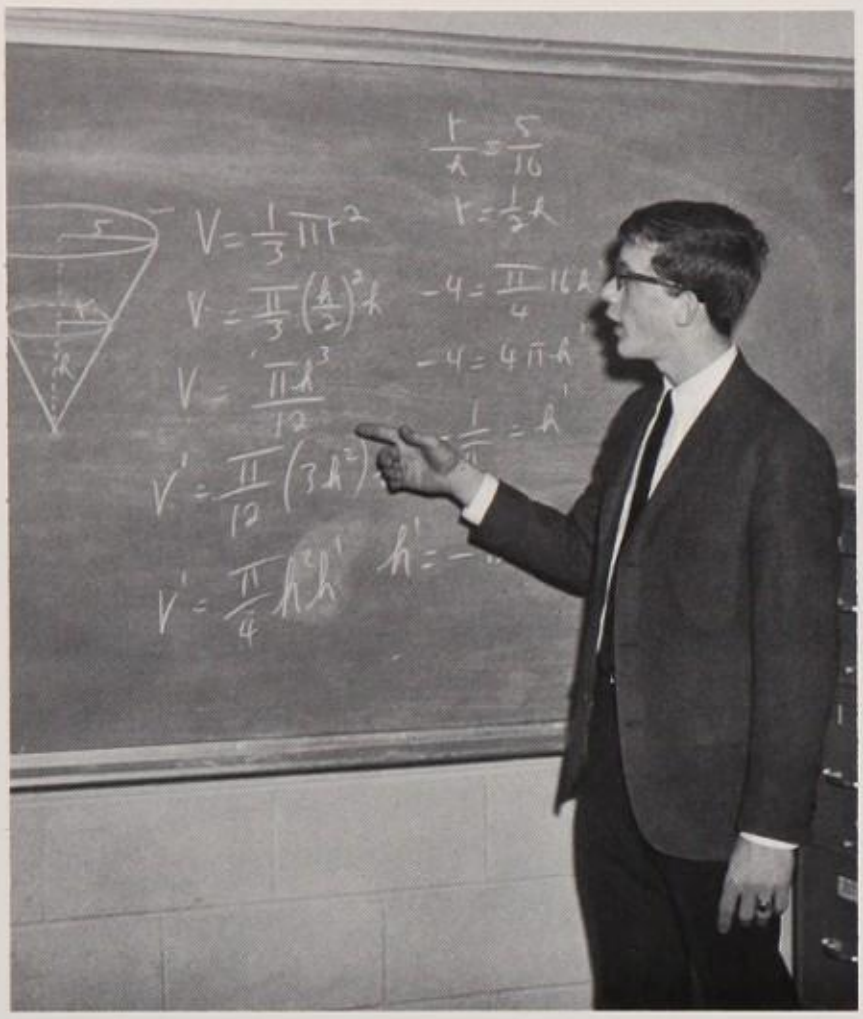
Math courses becoming more essential



Senior Dave Young explains a difficult calculus problem that he has put on the blackboard to his fellow classmates in Mr. Hamlin's second hour calculus class.

Our world is rapidly becoming an age of numbers. Mathematics is increasingly becoming more essential for everyone to study. Math is especially important in high school studies for all students, as college preparatory courses and use in future jobs outside of high school. There is an increasing number of students taking math courses at Bloom because it is becoming necessary for a wide majority of jobs and the demand for a greater number of courses for college entrance.

The Math Department at Bloom stresses the need for understanding and rigorous thinking on the part of the student. Courses in math are designed to emphasize the logical rather than the dogmatical development of mathematics. The faculty of the Math Department wants students to know not only how a mathematical answer is found, but also why.

Math at Bloom is offered all four years, and covers a wide range of different courses suited for the individual ability and interest of each student. Courses in math range from General Math, which is a basic requirement for graduation from high school, to Calculus for the very math-minded students. Offered to all interested students is Plane Geometry, Solid Geometry, College Algebra and Trigonometry.

The blackboard is used frequently in all math classes and Joanne Heuts proves this by writing her Algebra assignment in Mrs. Tillotson's second hour Algebra class.

Mrs. Hanneman explains the construction of a triangle using one of the visual aids, the overhead projector to Martha Crane and Huey Johnson in Plane Geometry.

Students in Mr. Stewart's third hour Solid Geometry class seem to be very interested in the different geometric solids used in showing the many geometric shapes and solids.

Exploration key to scientific learning

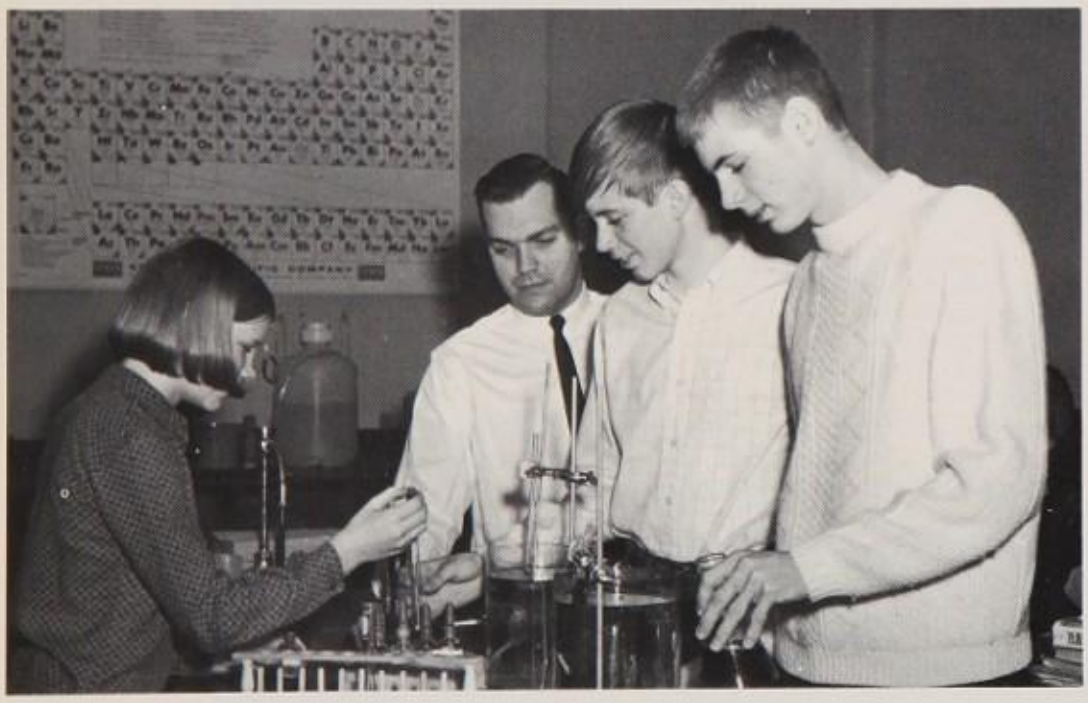
Mrs. Lowe assists Rick Alisiani and Patti Langley while they learn how to transfer bacteria onto slides and view them under a microscope in biology.

Exploration could be termed the key work in the study of science at Bloom. The science student strives to learn more about the world around him and what makes it tick. Science in our advancing modern age is becoming increasingly more important to study in any aspect from physiology to physics.

Students in any science course at Bloom are able to use the knowledge learned in the classroom everyday to develop and perform laboratory experiments. This gives the student an opportunity to explore himself, gaining a greater interest and understanding of the course he is enrolled in.

At the Freshman-Sophomore Division accelerated courses are offered for the student. Many freshmen are allowed to take a biology course usually open to sophomores, and when they are sophomores, they are then able to take chemistry. After taking these courses the student can continue study at the Junior-Senior Division and take other courses such as physics, advanced biology, and atomic physics.

The big event of the year for the Science Department is the Science Fair held at the end of March. At the Fair, students are allowed to exhibit and try for ratings by judges on experiments they have worked on in their science classes and outside of school.



Barbara Bramstadt, Jack Balkey, and Garry Clark experiment in a water equilibrium test in an accelerated sophomore chemistry class as Mr. Jaskolski looks on.

Mr. Lawton explains to Randi Wecker and Barbara Musto the use of a ripple tank in determining wave length and frequency of wave in the physics laboratory.

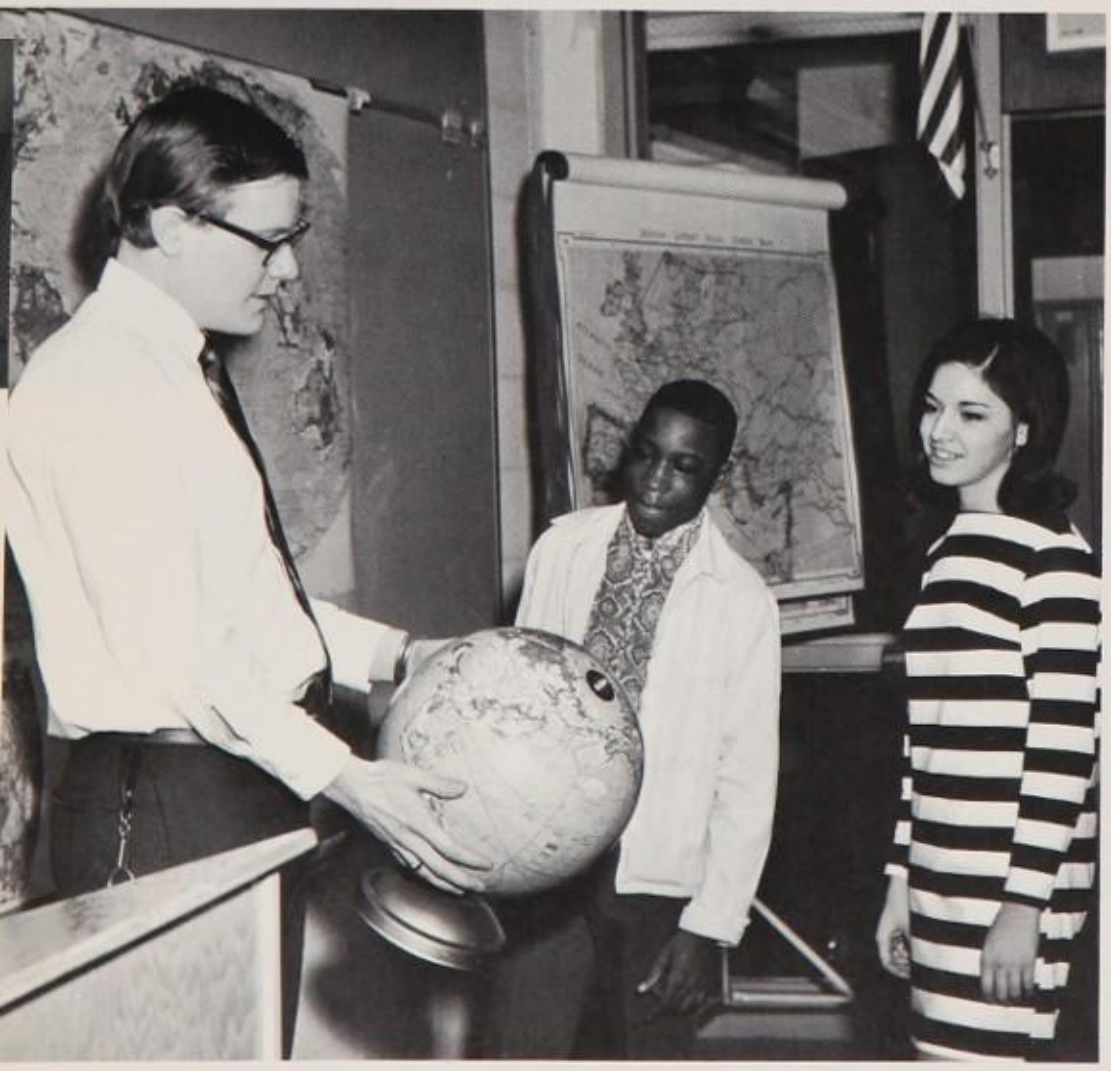
Team teaching plays an important role in teaching techniques at the Freshman-Sophomore Division and here Mr. Leach, Mrs. Heard, and Mr. Lightell are shown giving a lecture to third hour World Culture students.

Mr. Robert Lightell explains the geographic position, terrain and climactic zone of a small South American country to Henry Jones and Herminia Ordonez.



Using the largest globe in the school, Mr. Charles Mies, student teacher, shows Jean Wallace and David Brownfield a large seaport located on the Black Sea in a Global Geography class.

Social Studies relate past and present

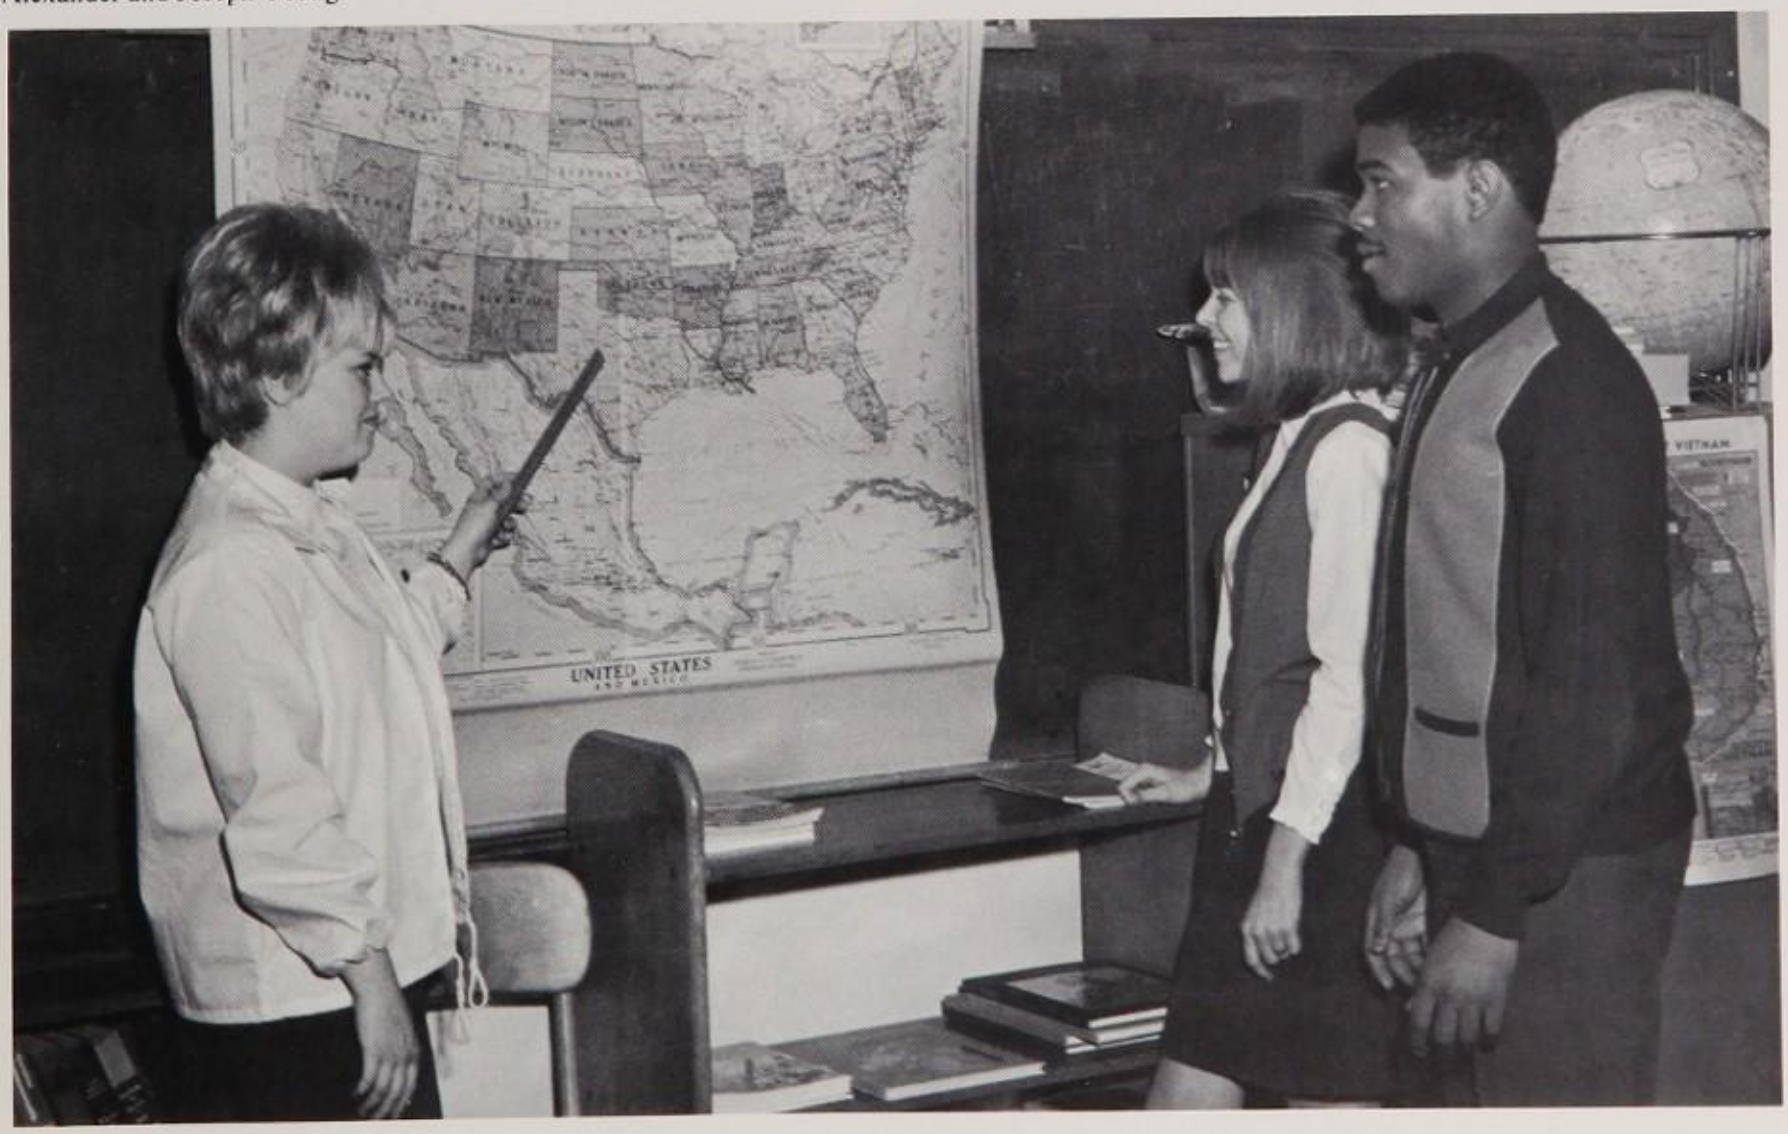
The primary goal of the Social Studies Department is to relate past and present in a wide range of different courses, both national and international in scope. These courses will give students knowledge and understanding of the United States and other nations. The student is met with an increasing appreciation of his heritage, an understanding of the development of history, and a foundation for the production of the future.

Aids such as films, filmstrips, records, maps and charts all are techniques used in teaching the student. At the Frosh-Soph Division the use of team teaching in the required World Cultures course has become a vital technique in presenting lectures to students.

All students are required to take American History before they graduate but there are many elective courses offered to the student. In many courses such as Global Geography, the student learns the geographic facts about international countries instead of historical facts. All Social Studies courses strive to give the student the fundamentals of citizenship and political awareness necessary to meet the challenges of life in our complex society.

Mr. Joseph Wenzel explains the structure of the many columns used by the Romans in their architecture to students Sue Shane, Melvin Flowers and Bob Macki in Ancient and Medieval history.

All juniors are required to take American History before graduating from Bloom. Karen Cogar points out the position of the Alamo and the scene of a bloody battle during Mexican border wars to Debra Alexander and Joseph Young.



Foreign language key to communication

The Foreign Language Department offers five different courses, all of which help to provide the key to communication. Through the study of Foreign languages the student becomes aware of his cultural heritage and the structure of his own language.

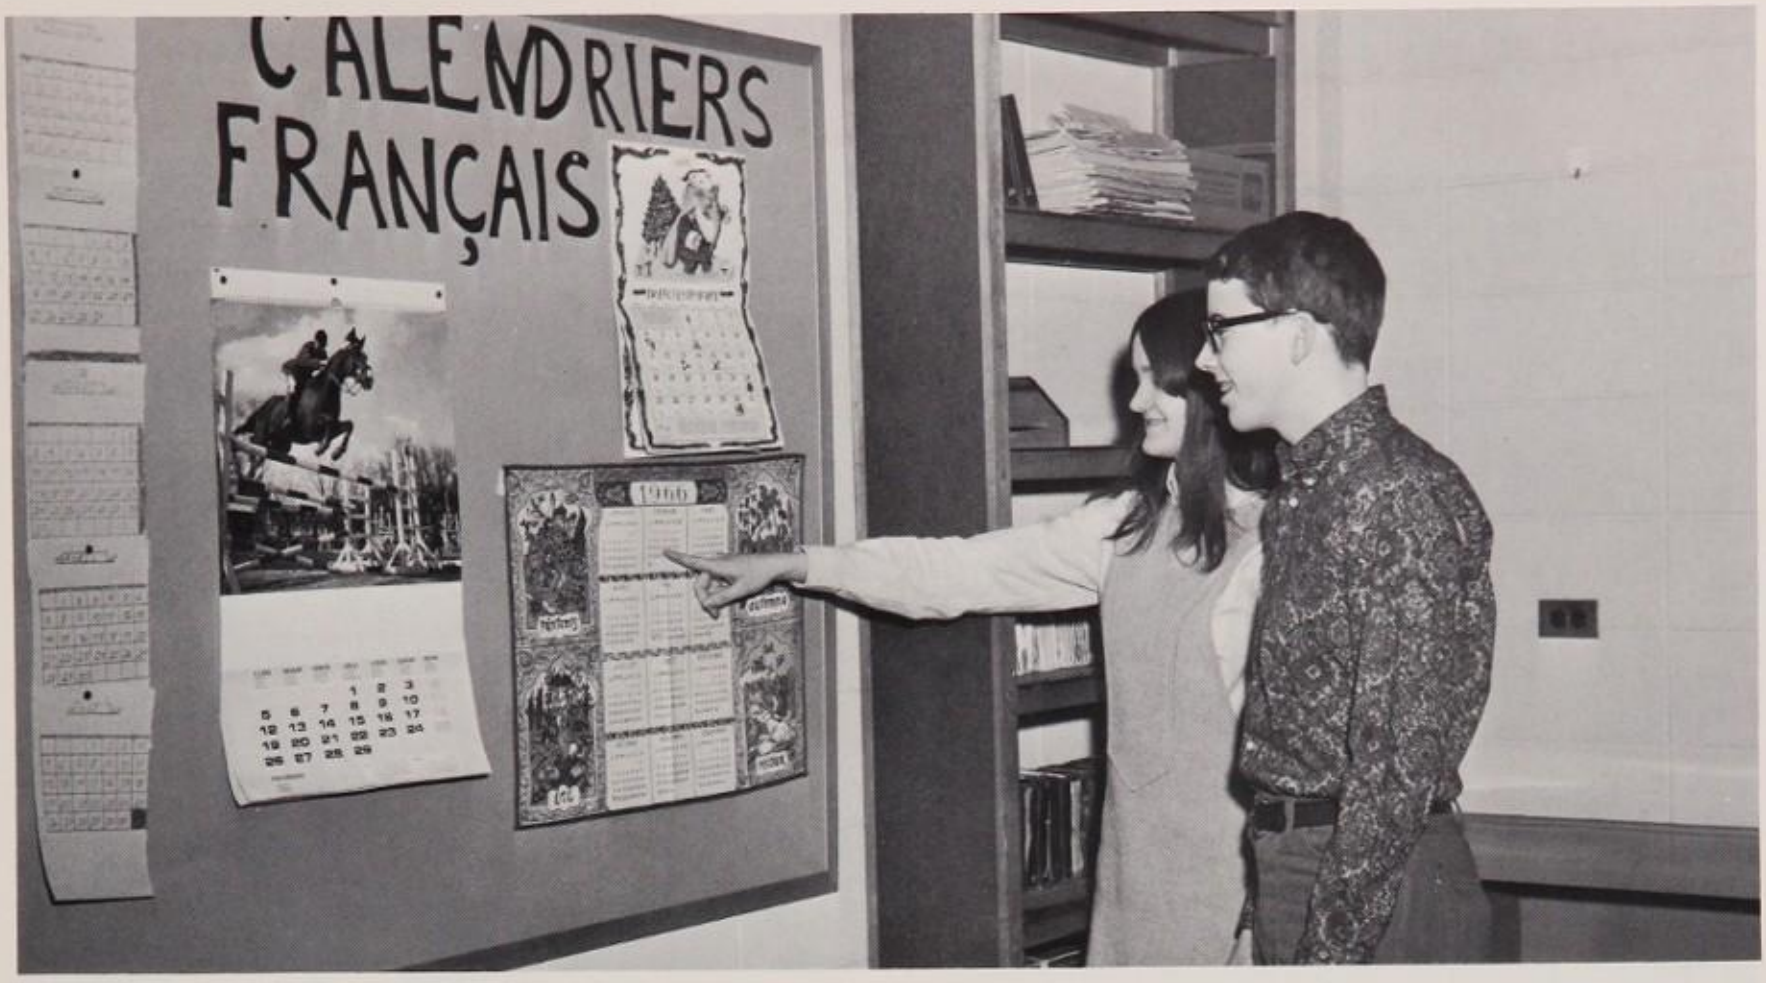
The Foreign Language Department sets rigorous standards for grammar comprehension and speech fluency. Each course also provides a sound background in the culture and history of the country concerned.

To help the language student learn the language easily and quickly, there are many different methods that can be used by the teacher. Slides, films, maps, flash cards and tape recorders all help the student gain a greater knowledge of the language. At both the Frosh-Soph and Junior-Senior divisions there are well equipped language labs where pupils are aided in their comprehension and pronunciation of the language through the use of earphones and language tapes.

Last summer a few students from Mrs. Cull's Italian classes spent four weeks studying at an Italian University.

Bea Becker, Inge Hoffman and Juergen Jackert, who were all born in or once lived in Germany, point out to their fellow students many of the major German cities and their locations.

Renata Ahrendt, Willie Nixon and Dean Campbell use the tape recorder in an exercise where they recite a Spanish Dialogue while Dr. Pelaez looks on.

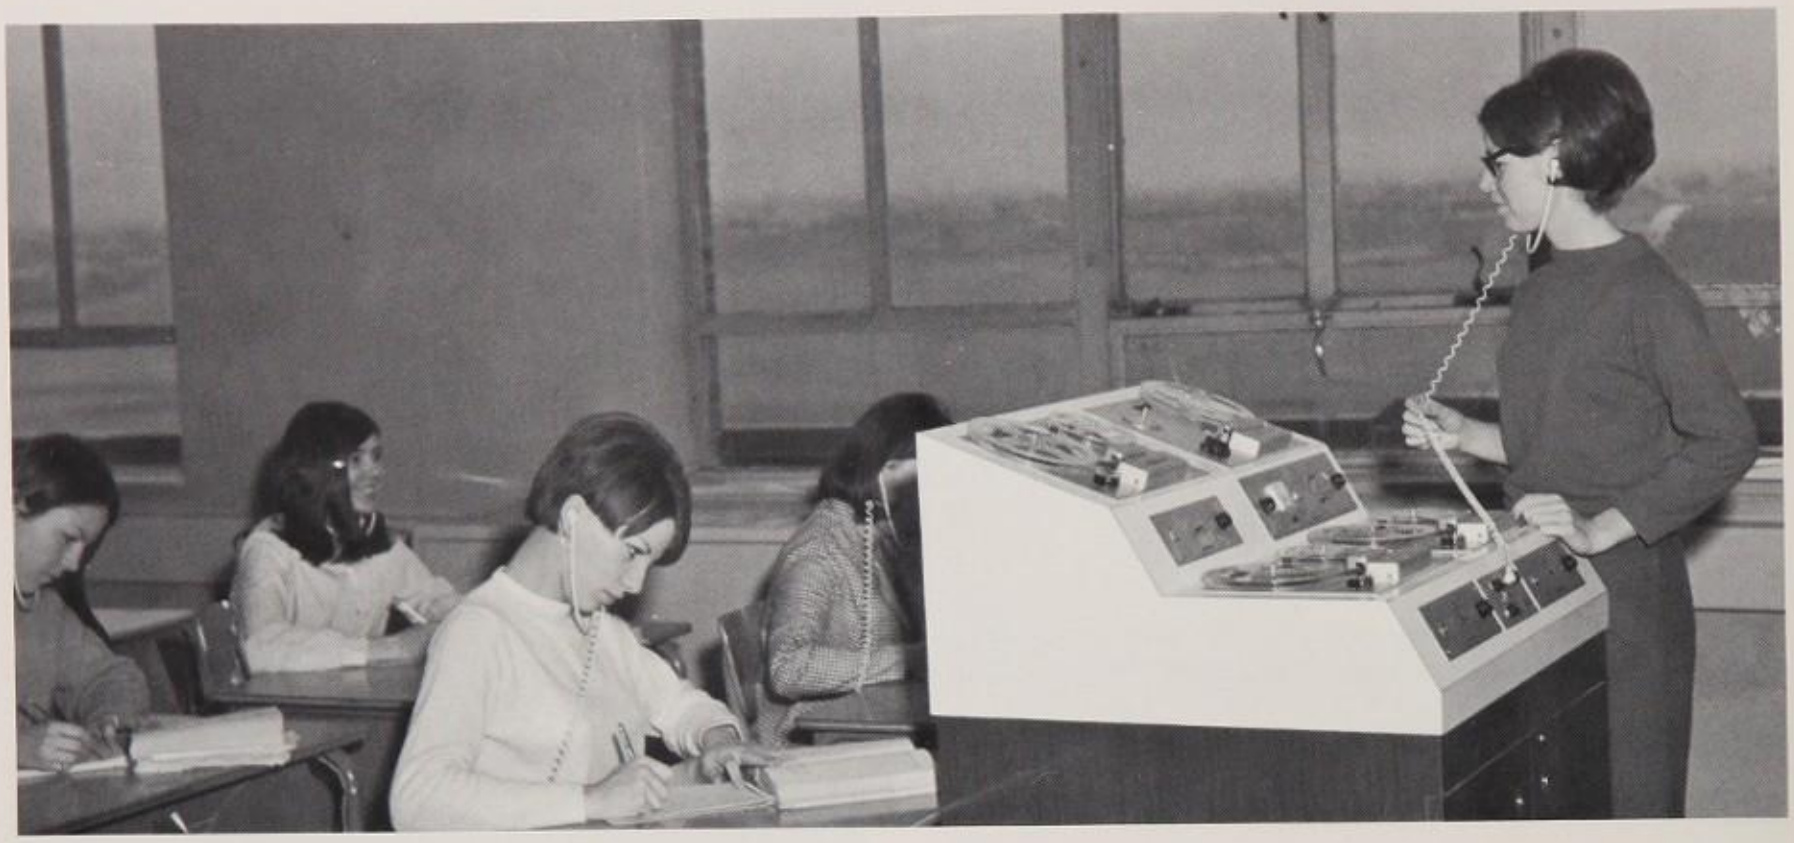


The French calendar seems to interest French II students Carol Polak and Tom Herman after a lesson in writing the French months of the year in Mrs. Paulsen's eighth period class.

Mrs. Lorraine Heard helps French IV students Sebastian Palmigiani, Betty Ludwig and Cindy Husarik prepare for an explication de texte that they are assigned to do during French class.

Jeanne Prokop and Sally Conterato were two of a group of students that visited and studied in Italy during the summer. They are telling their classmates, in Mrs. Cull's Italian III class, their many adventures.

Business, training for future vocations



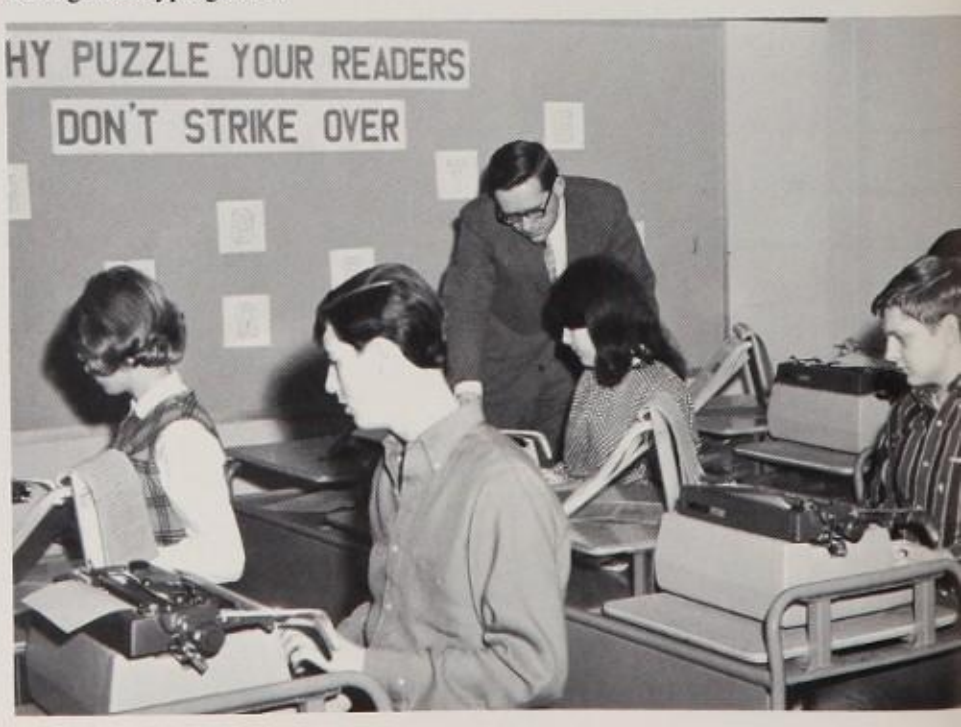
Mary Devine, an ISU student teacher works with individual tapes on the multi-channel shorthand laboratory in Mrs. Marin's first hour class.

Business courses at Bloom offer valuable skills and training for students that can be used in their future vocations. All students who choose business courses to major in during their high school years will find that they will be able to use the knowledge gained in such courses as typing, shorthand, office machines and business law.

Students gain training and skills through the use of the finest equipment available to high school students. In courses like office machines, a wide variety of different machines are presented for the student to learn to operate.

More and more, it is becoming increasingly important to learn how to operate machines. Shirley Demkowicz works on a Monroe calculator in Mrs. Rezabek's office machines class.

Speed and accuracy are the key words in first year typing. Students in Mr. James Atherton's class are busy practicing on their assignments during their typing class.



Industrial ed. gives insight to modern industry

Industrial education is a part of the Bloom curriculum which gives the student an opportunity to explore many areas of industrial endeavor. Industrial education gives insight to the various methods and materials of modern day industry. Students enrolled in these courses are rewarded with an excellent chance to develop the skills needed for improvement of our industries, and use them to become skilled in a trade.

Students enrolled in machine shop are confronted with many different types of machines which they can learn to operate. Vito Stonis and Paul Rojar learn the intricacies of operating a lathe during a shop class.

Mr. Doner teaches Danny Bolton how to work a machine designed to cut and shape different sheets of metal. In this shop class, the students learn to work only with metal and the machines used on different metals.

Tom Montgomery wears special eye protecting glasses while welding a metal with oxygen-acetyline gas.

Mr. Wesley Lind supervises Gerald Lofton in the delicate job of constructing a radio receiver during an electronics class.

Phylis Wlos, Mr. Nehmer, Dianna Kopenheimer and Vicki Pribyla examine handmade pots made during ceramics class.

Art is self-expression of the student

The ability of a student to express himself on canvas, in pottery, or any other object is a wonderful talent which is developed in Bloom art classes.

Students enrolled in art classes receive an opportunity to develop only artistic talent they possess and put it to use creatively in drawing, painting, ceramics, rug weaving and just about any creative art form imaginable.

In an art class such as oil painting, the student is able to take various textures of paint and put it onto the canvas as a creation of self-expression. This self-expression may teach the student to think clearly and wisely for himself.

Janet Tondu is working a most essential machine in ceramics class, the potter's wheel, which enables the student to fashion the pot into any form desired.

Shirley Gereg and Beth Hall both create their own different and original masterpieces during Mr. Foster's oil painting class.

Homemakers learn skills for future

The girl who enrolls in homemaking courses will learn basic skills and gain valuable experience that the woman of today needs to know before she begins to take care of her own family and home.

The Homemaking Department offers a variety of courses to interested Bloom girls. In these classes girls learn the rudiments of sewing, how to deal with children, the preparation and serving of food and other things that make a house a home. During the year various projects such as the fashion show helped to promote the girls interest as well as her self-pride.

Janice Wright works on sewing a straight seam while Marcha Darnell concentrates on cutting out material from the dress pattern she has selected to work on for the fashion show.

Preparing a meal is not always as easy as opening a can. Diane Streib uses her knowledge gained in cooking class to prepare a luncheon salad.

Sue Brown checks to see that the silverware is in the proper place after setting the table for a meal in Homemaking I.

Physical Ed. classes strengthen the body

Physical education classes for Bloom boys and girls provide a relaxing change from the academic atmosphere of their other daily classes. These classes are not only fun but also rewarding because the students benefit from the numerous facilities provided to strengthen the body, learn fundamentals and develop basic skills in many athletic endeavors.

Students utilize such facilities such as the field house, swimming pool, tennis courts, hockey fields and other athletic equipment to the fullest.

Usually, class activity is changed every three or six weeks which allows time for a wide variety of sports to be played each year. Activities included are archery, trampolines, co-educational volleyball and dancing, swimming and gymnastics.

All students at Bloom are required to take gym all four years of high school, every day of the week. This class helps to strenghten the mind and the body.

The trampoline is one of the first activities introduced to the student at the Frosh-Soph Division. This freshman boy comes down for a front drop as his fellow students spot him.

During a ninth hour gym class, senior boys are busy building and strengthening their muscles on a new apparatus machine set-up in the field house.

Linda Welk, Dan Fowler, Vera Guest and Gerald Warr swing as they do the Lindy dance step in a senior co-educational dance class taught by Mr. Fred Jacobeit.

Miss Balzhiser referees a rough and rugged game of basketball where everyone is after the ball and out to win.

Senior Class brings Orient to Bloom

Bloom's senior class of 1968 presented the comedy about the American occupation of Okinawa after World War II—"Teahouse of the August Moon". The great success of the play is attributed to the hard work of every cast and crew member. Mrs. Cleo Fowler, director, and Kathy Fields, student director, deserve special recognition for their efforts. Sam Pappalardo, as Sakini, Lon Helton, as Captain Fisby, and Maria Petrarca, as Lotus Blossom won the hearts of the audiences with their captivating performances.

The story takes place on the island of Okinawa at the end of World War II. It doesn't take the American occupation troops very long to discover that the native Okinawans have a mind of their own. The different cultures of Okinawa and America clash and the result is hilarious. But as soon as the roar of laughter dies down, the real truths the play portrays are strikingly evident.

The memory of a production such as "Teahouse" will long be held by those who participated in it. All the Bloom seniors who shared in the production of "Teahouse of the August Moon" will always remember the beautiful set designs, the live goat, and those immortal lines, "Naka, Naka, suteska desna!"

(Below) Kathy Mumford, co-chairman, touches up Maria Petrarca's make up after the first act. For 'Teahouse' new make up techniques had to be learned by the twenty members of the make-up crew. Linda Ruse was the other co-chairman.

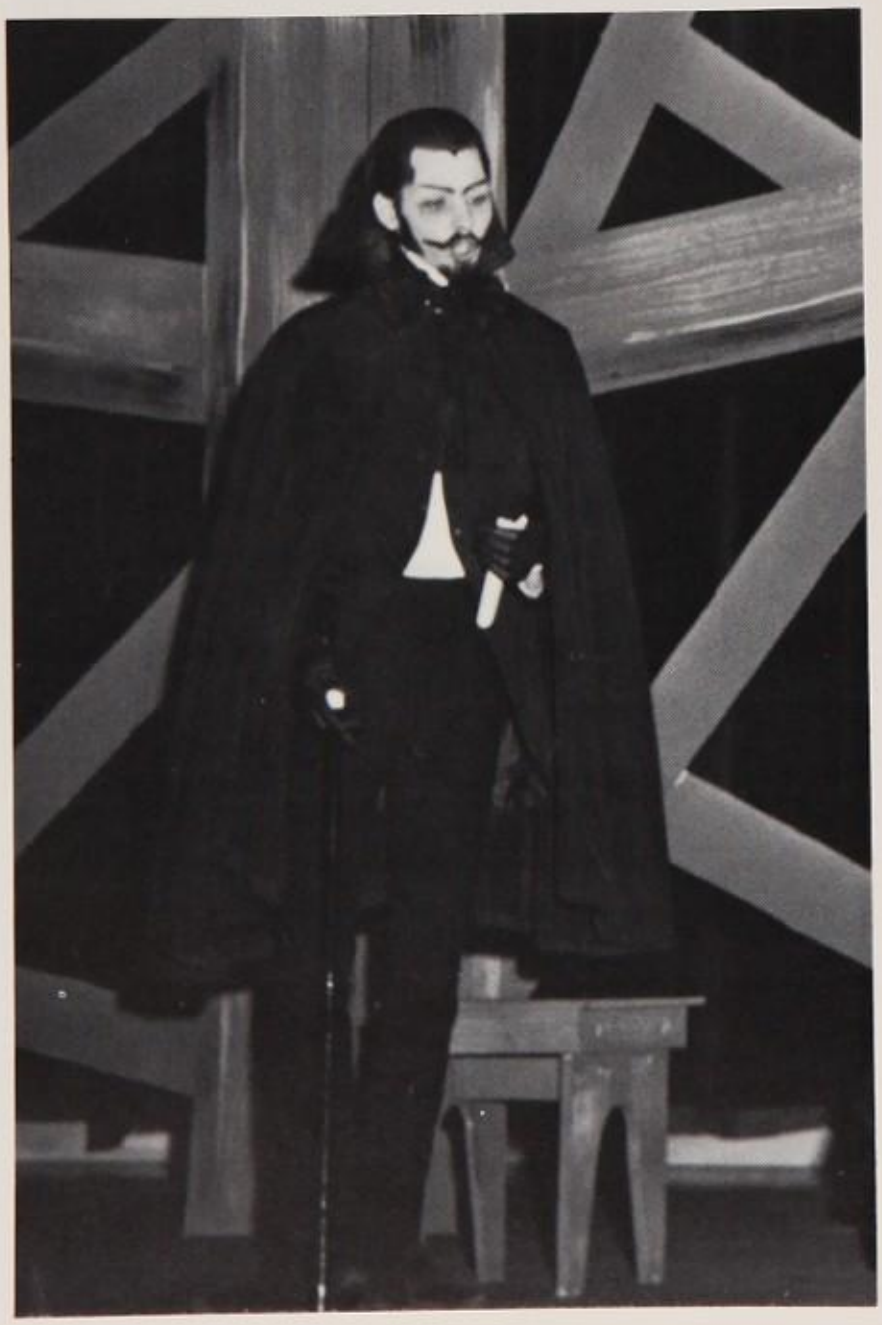
(Above) Geisha girls, Sue Keller, Nancee Schiever, and Fran Hitt, are led in an oriental dance by Lotus Blossom in the newly-built Tea-house of the August Moon for the celebration of Captain Fisby's birth-day. Native villagers, played by various seniors, look on in awe and interest.

(Left) Colonel Purdy (Dan Fowler) reprimands Sakini for letting a pair of his shorts float down the stream while he was washing them.

(Below) Colonel Purdy cries in anguish when he sees the overloaded jeep as Ancient Lady (Rosalie Saviano) stares back at him stubbornly.

Jane Householder and Jeanne Prokop reminisce about the "good old days" in a scene from "Save Me a Place at Forest Lawn."

Festival of Plays is first-rate success



Four one-act plays comprised the Bloom Festival of Plays, held on January 19 and 20. The four plays included "The Leader," performed by the theatre classes at Prairie State College, under the direction of Mr. Richard Peterson; "The Bond Between," presented by the Frosh-Soph Division, directed by Mrs. Barbara Palesch; and "The Devil and Daniel Webster" and "Save Me a Place at Forest Lawn," presented by the Junior-Senior Division, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Zinkiewicz.

"Bye Bye Birdie" smashing hit!

(left) Backstage Kathy Mumford made up Fran Hitt for the part of Gloria Rasputin, an untalented secretary who will do almost anything to get into show business.

(below) When Kim, played by Rosie Barrett, faints over Conrad Birdie, portrayed by Dave Wyatt, poor jealous Hugo Peabody, played by Jim Hodge is the one who must catch her.

"Bye Bye Birdie" proved to be truly exciting for members of the cast, orchestra, crews, and of course the audience. The A.F.S. show is an annual production which helps to bring foreign exchange students to Bloom.

The plot of "Bye Bye Birdie" is centered around Conrad Birdie, played by Dave Wyatt, receiving notice that he has been drafted. Albert Peterson, portrayed by Bruce Werth, and his secretary-girlfriend, Rose Alvarez, played by Lynn Lucia devise a publicity stunt to send Conrad off to the war in style. Al's mother, Mae, played by Kathy Fields is a meddlesome, self-centered old mother who disapproves of Rose.

Kim MacAfee, played by Rosie Barrett, is the girl chosen to receive Conrad's farewell kiss. Her boyfriend Hugo Peabody, played by Jim Hodge and her parents, portrayed by Rich Buckner and Gail Newhouse are caught up in the whirlwind of events following Conrad's arrival in Sweet Apple.

Other characters in the play who added so much, were the teen trio, Jane Householder, Laurie Maehl, and Sharon Rosenberger; the dancing Shriners, George Venturella, as Kim's little brother Randolph, and Sue Phagan as Kim's best friend Ursula.

(above) Fifteen year old Kim MacAfee considers herself to be a woman. Therefore, she is giving up the Conrad Birdie Fan Club so she can settle down to one man . . . and dress more like a woman?

"Somewhere My Love" was the theme of the 1967 Homecoming Dance, held on Saturday, November 25. Couples danced in the Russian dreamworld to the music provided by the Ronnie Rodgers Orchestra.

Set against a snowy landscape scene were an ice pond, snow covered forest, and an authentic antique sleigh. A cottage and field of daffodils were the decorations in the summer scene. Two small cafes were located in the fall and spring sections of the cafeteria, where those attending enjoyed refreshments.

Students display Blue and White Spirit

The Blue and White Dance was held at the conclusion of the most successful Student Council Week in the history of Bloom. Entitled "A Night at the Circus," it was held at the Frosh-Soph building with music provided by the Moving Violations.

The court members, elected by the student body, were chosen for their school spirit and participation in activities at Bloom. The court included Kathy Amos, Maria Petrarca, Harlene Velissaris, Dan Fowler, Claude White, and Dave Williams. Chosen King and Queen were Charlie Donovan and Pat Borecki.

(below) The Moving Violation, a local school band, provided the music at the dance. Here Bob Slota and his date Valerie Spak seem to be enjoying themselves.

Elegantly dressed couples stroll through the woods and streets of "Emerald City" while they are serenaded by the Jack Mitchell Orchestra. Most couples take advantage of the music, but a few less-hardy people rest for a moment.

Yellow Brick Road led to "Emerald City"

On May 18, the doors of "Emerald City" opened to the Bloom juniors and seniors for the 1968 Junior Prom. Prom-goers followed the yellow brick road through the cafeteria doors where they were greeted by the traditional receiving line. Also on hand to greet them were the Cowardly Lion, the Tinman and the Scarecrow. Numerous sights along the yellow brick road included the Witch's Castle, the Enchanted Forest, the poppy field and the gigantic balloon in which the Wizard landed.

The Jack Mitchell orchestra provided music for dancing from 9 to midnight. Refreshments were served by a staff of girls dressed to resemble Dorothy. At 11 pm, Judy Alessandrini was crowned queen of "Emerald City", by reigning queen Sandy Kudra. At midnight, the magical doors of "Emerald City" closed and the post-prom activities began. After dining at the Tivoli, Savoias or the Red Lion, prom-goers went on to the V.F.W. where they were entertained by Augie Conchetti's Band and the Mauds.

Before entering the 'Emerald City', the couples checked their cloaks at Dorothy's house. Here Elaine Butkus, Harlene Velissaris, and their dates wait for their coats.

Couples entering 'Emerald City' via the Yellow Brick Road were greeted by the reception line.

The cowardly lion was one of the characters who greeted Prom-goers.

During a Prom assembly, the scarecrow and others try to free Dorothy from the Wicked Witch.

The good fairy throws her magic dust on the Witch's guard during the Prom assembly.

Many couples at the Prom found the chance to sit down and enjoy the punch and cookies, a welcome relief from dancing. After being refreshed, couples admired the carefully prepared decorations.

Tradition governs most of Bloom's activities—the Prom is no exception. Every year, promptly at midnight, the Prom closes its doors, but the magical evening is only just beginning. As is Bloom's tradition, those attending the prom then proceed to the post prom. Shortly before dawn, weary from dancing, the prom-goers take time out for breakfast at restaurants or friend's homes. The more energetic then continue to the Dunes—still another long lasting Bloom tradition.

Student Council Week renews Trojan Spirit

Student Council Week is something new at Bloom. In past years this week of special demonstrations of school spirit has been called Courtesy Clean-Up Week. However, the 1967-68 school year marked the beginning of a new tradition.

Each day of the week was designated as a day to wear a specific type of clothing. The first day of the eventful week was Monday, Bermuda Shorts Day. On Tuesday the girls were expected to open doors and carry books for boys on Scarf and Slave Day. Wednesday everyone dressed for Hat and Sweatshirt Day. Old Fashioned Day was a memorable flashback into time on Thursday, and Friday was Blue and White Dress-Up Day.

Other special events scheduled during Student Council Week included Potato Chip Day, a Pretty Legs Contest, and the annual Blue and White Dance, "A Night at the Circus."

Fresia, Bo experience different life at Bloom

Foreign exchange student, Bo Persson, glances up from a conversation with friends at his lunch table in the cafeteria.

This year, Bloom sponsored two foreign exchange students, Fresia Harbauer from Lima, Peru, and Borje Perrson from Gothenburg, Sweden.

While attending Bloom, Fresi stayed with her American sister, Mary Pignotti. Since, in Peru, high school is attended for five years, this was Fresia's sixth year in high school. After leaving us, she will attend the University in her home town of Lima.

During her school year at Bloom, Fresia took a variety of classes; typing, problems of democracy, American history, and English. Fresia considered Bloom to be quite different from her school in Lima as she attended an all girls school, had ten courses, and was on quite a different type of schedule during the school day.

Borje Perrson, in his year in the United States, lived with his American brother, Jim Low. Bo, as he was called by his many friends, became a member of the football team as a place kicker.

Because Bo's school in Sweden had only 450 students, he found Bloom quite different. Also, he had to adjust to a more high school-like atmosphere as in Sweden high schools are run much like universities. Bo's courses this year at Bloom included problems of democracy, English, American history, and French. Both Fresi and Bo enjoyed their year at Bloom.

Bo's year at Bloom included many social activities as well as a crowded schedule. Here he is seen seeking information at the card catalog of the library.

Fresia finds Mrs. Fieroh's homeroom a time during her hectic day where she can relax, chat with friends, as well as do her homework.

Pep-O-Rama promotes Trojan spirit

(above) Inside the field house the night of the parade, there was anxiety as well as confusion as everyone hurried to finish the last minute details on their cars and floats.

This year's annual Pep-O-Rama parade, sponsored by the Student Council, was held the night of the Bloom-Richards football game. Multi-colored floats urged Bloom's Trojans on to a smashing 34—0 victory. Lon Helton was student chairman for Pep-O-Rama and Rick Werner was the announcer. The first prize for the best float was awarded to the Junior Class, for its float, "Give the Bulldogs our Gravy Train."

Junior-Senior teachers regain title

The Bloom faculty regained its title, with a 28—26 victory in the annual student-faculty basketball game, held in the Girls' Large Gym. Serving as cheerleaders at the game were five lovely 'girls'; Jim 'Peaches' Polak, Dave 'Bubbles' Williams, Dan 'Dagmar' Fowler, Tom 'Fifi' DiGuilio, and Mike 'Sexy' Sabo. At the Frosh-Soph division the tables were turned and the students were victorious.

Candidates show 'Trojan Spirit' at elections

After election returns were counted and results were announced, Mayor Dan Fowler shakes the hand of Mayor-elect Harold 'Lucky' Luecke as new commissioners Mike Rich and Butch Witlock look on.

Elections for both City of Bloom and class officers were held May 8, during all homeroom periods. Harold Luecke, newly elected mayor, and the five new commissioners were installed at an all school assembly held on May 17. Elected to the offices of commissioner were sophomores Dennis Brennan (Public Improvement), and Ken Kerns (Public Welfare), juniors Mike Rich (Finance), and Dale Witlock (Social Activities), and freshman Mitch Kline (Freshman-Sophomore Affairs). Also, Mary Traise was appointed City Clerk, Rick Jorczak, parliamentarian, and Jim Whitfield, sergeant-at-arms by Mayor Luecke.

Senior Debbie Reynolds admires the various posters for City of Bloom, as well as, senior class elections.

Candidates of offices for City of Bloom share some tense moments before being introduced for election speeches at the election assembly. At this assembly not only speeches were given, but also short skits for the mayoral candidates were presented.

Students gain recognition at assembly

To mention students who have gained recognition during the school year was the purpose of the Honors Assembly. Among those who received recognition were: the senior valedictorians, the American Legion Award winners, the DAR and SAR good citizens of the year, individuals who won college scholarships through various sources, the National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, and vocational award winners.

Eugene Nowocin is presented with a dictionary from Mrs. Marjorie Cain for being the junior boy with the highest grade point average. Carole Brauer (not pictured) also received a dictionary in recognition of her grade average.

Guess who came to dinner—the seniors

The annual Senior Class Dinner was held May 14 at the Junior-Senior division cafeteria. The theme of the dinner was "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner?" Ralph Williams, student co-ordinator, and Mr. Emmett Richards, class sponsor, were in charge of the affairs.

The entertainment was set up in comparison to the "Tonight Show" and "Laugh-In" television programs. Mike Downey was master of ceremonies while Gregg Goggin was the show's announcer. Among the entertainers were the Trojanettes and Trojanaires and Folk-Rock Singers. Walter White and Kathy Fields read the class will; Gail Petreikis, Mary Pignotti, and Dick Laya read the prophecy.

Looking back with satisfaction and ahead with future hopes, the Class of '68 left Bloom with mixed emotions. Their last year was one of hard studying and many activities. Each senior looked forward to his graduation day, recalling the pleasant memories of his past four years at Bloom.

The seniors were caught up in a kaleidoscope of colorful activities. It was a time for college applications and acceptances, the Senior Class Play, and the Class Dinner. This year the class presented, with great success, "Teahouse of the August Moon." Many seniors worked hard on Homecoming, Blue and White, and Turn-About to make them successful. Other seniors participated in sports, giving Bloom some of the finest teams in the state.

Graduation—a time for joy, a time for tears

Graduation is a time for all seniors to glance at the past and look ahead to the future. The past will always be filled with many memories of their four years at Bloom. The graduate looks to the future with curiosity, wondering what he will be doing and where he will be years after graduation night, June 13th.

The nineteen sixty-eight graduates were the first students to attend the Freshman-Sophomore division. None will ever forget the mornings they had to get up bright and early to catch a bus to the 'farm'.

After two years at the Frosh-Soph division, many of the students found school life at the Junior-Senior division more interesting and rewarding. This class displayed school spirit in Student government and in athletics. Graduation may mean good-bye for most of the seniors, but there always will remain many memories of the past and a joy in looking forward to the dreams of the future.

The Bloom Varsity football team had an exciting year, a year that marked the debut of a new head coach, Mr. Charles Sides.

The 1967 season began with a bang as the Trojans crushed neighboring Rich East 24—7 for their first victory over the Rockets in seven years. It was the last game for at least two years between the two clubs because of Bloom's pending South Suburban League commitments.

Bloom finished the year with a record of 5 wins and 4 losses, but the defeats came at the hands of two teams, league champion Thornton and second-place Thornridge, since SSL teams are required to play each other twice each year.

The Thornton-Bloom battles were low-scoring, fast paced games with the Wildcats just edging their opponents both time. Bloom dropped a 13—12 decision at Harvey and later in the campaign fell 7—0 on a last quarter touchdown.

The five Trojan wins came at the expense of league rivals Richards (twice) and Eisenhower, and non-conference foes Rich East and Marist.

Highlighting the year was the play of several individuals, many of whom will return next year. The passing combination of seniors, quarterback Dennis Fleming and split end Allen Wells, devastated the defensive backfield of Bloom opposition throughout the year.

Fullback Oliver Alexander and halfback Jackie Irons, a pair of juniors, were 1-2 in rushing, while two more juniors, Pete Slusinski and Louis Tate, will be back to lead the offensive attack.

Standouts on defense were linebackers Clemmie Harris and Jim Low, defensive end Tom Holt, tackles Ed Browski and Wayne Bryan, and the backfield of seniors Fleming, Wells, Bill Bekeza and junior John Piazza. Tim Holt, at linebacker, was a standout performer.

(Above). Junior John Piazza circles left end, eyes glued on the end zone some 40 yards away. A sub quarterback, Piazza was impressive spotting Denny Fleming on occasions and should be one of the top stars on next year's grid team.

Under the leadership of Charles Hussman, Sophomore head coach, Bloom's Little Trojans completed the 1967 football campaign with a record of three wins and six losses.

Coach Hussman and his assistants, Dave Wheeler and Ray Grazulis, are convinced, however, that statistics do not tell the entire story of the season.

They praised the "never give up" attitude and desire displayed by their squad and felt that a majority of the team will develop into the valuable varsity players next fall.

The 1967 edition of Bloom's Freshman Trojans finished their football season with a 6—3 record.

Coach Steve Miller's first-year squad won five of their last six games, highlighted by a 20—13 victory over previously unbeaten and untied Thornton.

Fifty-six boys, most of them extremely promising football players, finished the season from the eighty-five who started under Coach Miller and his assistants, Coach Richard Grotemeyer and Coach Mike Pohlman.

Individual effort accounted for the team's fine record.

Great depth spurred the Bloom cross-country team to a South Suburban league championship in 1967 under first year head coach Jim Santos. The meet was held at Richards and the Trojans had six harriers in the top 16 to edge runnerup Eisenhower 52 to 53.

Junior Steve Small, whose fine distance running broke the Bloom course record several times during the season, was first man in for the victorious Blue and White, finishing fourth. Huey Johnson took sixth, but the clincher was a four-man parade from places 13—16, with Captain Ab Sauceda, Rich Harvey, Grady Manning and Jan Johnson finishing together.

Coach Santos' outfit wound up the season with an 8—5 record in dual meet competition. They also finished third of 36 schools at the Lincoln-Way district meet, with Small's sixth place effort making him Bloom medalist and narrowly missing a state qualifying berth (top five). Jan Johnson ran a school record of 10:15 at Wilson Forest Preserves.

Senior Randy Clark leaps high into the air to capture a rebound from two Homewood-Flossmoor Vikings.

"Our Trojan team is really GREAT"

Bloom's victories included wins over six teams which became regional champions—University High, Pontiac, LaSalle-Peru, Eisenhower, Canton and Aurora East. The longest winning streak was eight. The team averaged 71.6 points per outing.

After finishing the regular season with a mark of 18—6, Bloom entered the Rich East regional (Southeast Suburban Champions) earning a berth in the title tilt versus defending champ Homewood-Flossmoor. There the Trojans conquered, 53—42 and graduated to the Lockport West sectional. Tackling Thornton for the third time, the Blue and White grabbed an 11-point lead after three quarters only to lose 59—54.

Bowing out were seniors Richard Thomas and Randy Clark, co-captains; Howard Watson, Bill Bekeza, Chuck Donovan and Randy Williams. Thomas, the team's top scorer, hit at an 18.0 points per game clip and was unanimously named to the first string of the all-conference team for the second straight year. He was also named an All-Star at the Pontiac tournament and placed on several other all star teams. Claude White was named to the second string all AAL conference team.

The Trojans will take on about the same tough schedule next year with two added attractions, Moline and Morgan Park. Playing probably the toughest schedule of any school in the state, the Bloom varsity basketball team came up with an exceptional year, highlighted by a regional tournament championship. The Trojans, under the guidance of coach Wes Mason, compiled a final record of 21—7 which included victories over LaSalle-Peru, Aurora East, St. Patrick, and Homewood-Flossmoor. The Trojans took second in the SSL with a 6—2 ledger, both defeats administered by Thornton.

The Sophomore basketball team compiled an 18—5 record for the 1967-68 season. They ended up in second place in the conference standings, behind leader Thornton. This was Coach Don Roux's first year at the helm of the Little Trojans and he was ably assisted by Bob Anderson.

Some highlights of the season were a 62—53 win over Thornton and winning first place in the Rich Central Invitational Tournament. Also, defeating Decatur and Galesburg on their home floors were major accomplishments as these losses to Bloom were the only one these two teams suffered. Much is expected from these boys next year when they will compete on the varsity team.

The freshman squads compiled an impressive record of 35 wins and 3 losses for the season. The A squad captured the Conference championship and placed second in the Tinley Park Freshman Tournament. Larry McCoy and Darrin Fries led the young Trojans with 13.5 and 10.0 points per game average respectively. Stanley Boyd, Bill Weekley, McCoy and Fries all pulled down over 100 rebounds for the season. Johnnie Stewart, Dave Hollingsed, Ray Thomas, and Kevin Ooms also contributed a great deal to the successful 19—2 season.

Bloom's B squad also won their Conference Championship while recording a 16 win and 1 loss season. Mike Irons and Gary Wilson led the scoring with 142 and 104 points respectively. Al Faulkner pulled down 170 rebounds and led the team in field goal and free throw percentages.

The accomplishments of several outstanding individuals highlighted the 1967-68 season for the Bloom Varsity wrestling squad. The year for head coach Tom Koenig's matmen had its ups and downs, the latter due to a rash of injuries which plagued the Trojans continually.

Early in the year Bloom traveled to the Plainfield eight-team tournament and captured second place. Soon afterwards, the Trojans notched their big prize of the season by grabbing the Rich Rocket Tourney crown. At the IHSA district meet, also held at Rich East, the squad finished second to the host school.

Russ Smith, Leo Galvan, Lacey McCray, Ed O'Brien, Mickey Scrementi, John Gonzales and Ed Browski were the Bloom entries at the sectional, where they finished sixth. Smith, McCray, and Scrementi reached the sectionals as district champs; the others were runners-up at Rich East.

It was sophomore 103-pounder, O'Brien that made the state finals representing Bloom. O'Brien took second to Rich Central's Mike Conlon at both the district and sectional meets and graduated to the state bouts at Northwestern's McGaw hall.

Smith wound up the year with only three losses, two of which were to state champ Rich Casiao of TF North. Scrementi and Smith were the only Bloom titlists at the South Suburban league meet where the Trojans finished fourth. Browski and Gonzales were runners-up and O'Brien and McCray were third at the conference meet.

Coach Dave Sheridan and his sophomore wrestlers had a fine season in 1967-68, compiling an 8—4—1 dual meet slate and sporting several outstanding individuals.

Perhaps the most successful of the sophomore grapplers was 180 pounder Jeff Grublesky. Grublesky was impressive in ringing up a 19—2 dual meet record.

Grublesky also was the sophomore Trojans' only conference champion, winning the 180 pound crown at the South Suburban trials at Thornridge. The team finished fourth.

Two other matmen who had fine seasons were sophomore John Harrison, who registered a 15—3 mark, and freshman standout Tom Hall, who wound up 13—3 with Coach Sheridan's squad. Hall competed with the varsity at the district meet and reached the semi-final bracket.

Victims of the Trojans during the winter were Marian, Rich Central, Crete-Monee, Eisenhower, Bradley, Tinley Park, Fenger, and TF North. Bloom and Richards fought to a 24-all stalemate.

Coach Don Upton, in his rookie year at the varsity swimming helm, led his Trojan tankers to one of their finest seasons this winter. Bloom wound up the season with a 10—15 dual meet record and also finished second in the South Suburban conference meet.

Diver Bob Slota had an outstanding year, winning his event 11 times in 12 tries and qualifying for the state meet at Hinsdale.

The 200 medley and 400 freestyle relay teams both had a fine year. In the team's last battle, a 53—42 win over TF North, the foursome of Dale Williams, Mike Condon, Keith Collignon and Rod Ludvigsen had a time of 1:54.5, their best effort.

The 3:48 clocking of the freestylers in the last meet was a new school record. Rodger Williams, Alan Lundell, Jim Cavallo and Rod Ludvigsen composed this unit.

Condon and Collignon were superb during the year in the breaststroke and butterfly events. Condon's 1:11.7 timing was one second off the existing Bloom standard, while Collignon barely missed going under a minute in his specialty.

Senior Jim Peters ended up as the squad's leading scorer. Peters' top events were the 100 and 200 yard freestyles. Jim Cavallo also had a good year, frequently taking the individual medley.

Bloom's Varsity Gymnastics team, consisting of seven juniors, one senior, and four sophomores, showed increasing strength in the 1967-68 gymnastics season. Bloom's team was only slightly behind other teams with many more years of experience. The team won three of twelve meets with a third place in the SSL championships.

Among the team's most outstanding individuals in the various events were Capt. David Lysak on the parallel bars, Co.-Capt. Robert Garcia on the rings, senior John Muzzo on the horizontal bar, Paul Barbour in tumbling, and Bill Lanham on the trampoline.

Showing great promise from the Sophomore squad are Clark Anderson and Don Crow on the horizontal bar, Brad Vazales, Robert Kozub and Steve Oswald on trampoline, Willie Jones on parallel bars and rings, and Phil Williams and Mike Jones in free exercise.

Next year should prove to be a challenge, the team will be at full strength with many individual champions.

The Bloom track team enjoyed one of its most successful years in track this year, by capturing five major track championships. On its way to a fourth place finish in the Illinois state meet, the Trojans won the Bloom Indoor Invitational; the Bloom Outdoor Invitational; the Proviso West Invitational; the Mooseheart Relays; the South Suburban League Championship, and took the district track championship for the fourteenth year in a row.

Highlights of the season were provided by Jan Johnson who became the first pole vaulter in Illinois to clear 15 feet both indoors and outdoors. Jan had the best indoor vault in the nation at 15 feet and was ranked nationally outdoors with a best of 15 feet 3/4 inches.

Jimmie Rogers also came up with a nationally ranked time of 6.2 seconds in the 60 yard dash indoors. Jimmie was the owner of the fastest time in the state this year in both the 60 and 50 yard dashes, and outdoors in the 100 at 9.7 seconds.

Huey Johnson, another outstanding performer, held the best 440 time in the state at 48.6 and finished the year as the South Suburban League Champion, the District Champion, and the second place finisher in the State Meet in this event. He was chosen as co-recipient of the Jim Bouton 110 percent award.

Jan Johnson, one of the nation's outstanding prep vaulters, demonstrates his talent, by easily clearing the bar in his specialty, the pole vault.

Bloom's Jimmie Rogers crosses the finish line of the 100 yard dash while teammate L. T. Hutton follows close behind.

Tom Holt recovers from another fine shotput throw. Tom also was an excellent discus thrower.

SSL Meet		1st

The Trojan Sophomore team had one of its most successful years following in the footsteps of the Varsity squad. The "Little Trojans" won the South Suburban League Championship, the Bloom Invitational and the Mooseheart Relays. Coach Steve Miller's team set several school records on its way to an 18—1 record.

Leading the Trojans was Freshman Henry Kennedy. He turned in a time of 50.4 seconds in the 440, one of the top times in the nation in the quarter-mile. Coach Miller's 880 relay team of Jesse Rogers, Andre Johnson, Bernard Murray, and James Cooper also accounted for several records, as did the outstanding mile relay team composed of Kennedy, Bob Nailon, John Johnson, and Bernard Murray. Both of these teams completed the season without a loss.

Led by the excellent pitching of Dennis Fleming and Paul Gibson, the 1968 baseball team had an outstanding season in winning 13, losing three, and tying one. With a balanced attack of good pitching and hitting, the team was undefeated for the first nine games. The first defeat was a 2 to 1 game with Eisenhower that started a drought in run production for the Trojans, as they scored only nine runs in the next six games. But excellent pitching and defense by the infield, that was composed of Floyd Browning at third, Larry Hodges at shortstop, John Piazza at second and Dennis Buzelli at first, enabled the team to split even in these games.

In the last two games, led by the hitting of Ron Bruns and Pete Slusinski, the Trojan's bats came alive as the team scored 21 runs in winning the last two games. The Trojans won the South Suburban League Championship, which was the first baseball championship Bloom had won in the last ten years. This year's team also won the District Tournament before it was eliminated by Thornridge in a Regional game. Three senior members of this team were honored as all-South Suburban League selection. Dennis Fleming was picked as a pitcher, Ron Bruns as a center fielder, and Floyd Browning at third base. This team will have to go down as one of the best baseball teams Bloom has ever produced.

The two boys showing the most improvement were Paul Narcisi, catcher, and Terry Wall, pitcher. Highlight of the season was the victory over T. F. South, champion of the Southeastern Conference. Bloom was 2 and 6 in league play and 4—1—1 in non-conference play.

Golfers tee to first SSL title

Coach Prombo's golf team completed a very successful season finishing with an 8 won—3 lost dual meet record. Qualifying rounds set in the beginning of the year determined the members of the team and the position in which they would play in meet. Bill Bekeza playing in the number one position shot consistently in the low 40's and occasionally in the high 30's.

The highlight of the year was the team winning the South Suburban Conference. This was the first time Bloom won the league title. Leading the way was Bill Bekeza, 3rd Medalist in the meet carding 79, Robert DeGuilio 83, and Mickey Scrementi and Bruce Meyer 84 each. The Bloom team was tied at the end of 18 holes, so the 5th man, Robert Tiberi, carded an 85 to win the meet for the Trojans.

Ira Asher and Dean Nardi were consistently low scorers for this year's frosh-soph team. Nick Marucci was the low scorer among the freshmen and he will be back next year to help bolster the team.

Cheers inspire

Who are the twelve cheerleaders? They are sophomore, junior and senior girls who jump, scream, inspire, stomp, laugh, and cry. They are the beginning of Trojan Spirit and the end result of many long hours of practice and planning. They are the symbols of pep and enthusiasm, and of the pride that all Bloomites have in their teams, coaches, and school. The varsity squad is under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Beeman, and the Frosh-Soph squad is under the direction of Miss Jolynn Miklik.

Beside the cheerleaders, there is another person who plays a large part in inspiring Trojan Spirit. Everyone recognizes him on first glance. He is Tony Trojan, a symbol of Bloom's school spirit. He can be found at any home basketball or football game, at the sidelines yelling and cheering. Together, Tony Trojan and the cheerleaders let everyone know, "We're from Bloom and couldn't be prouder!"

The 1967-68 Varsity cheerleaders, from top to bottom are Pat Borecki, Gail Petrekis, Kathy Amos, Judy Allessandrini, Elaine De-Glopper, Melanie Delsener, and Sandy Kudra. Pat Borecki, a senior, is the captain of the squad, which is sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Beeman.

Blu-Fins Annual Swim Show Huge Success

Blu-Fins is a club whose main purpose is to teach interested girl swimmers synchronized swimming, and swimming skills additional to the ones they already have. They attend other shows, and learn to choreograph swim numbers. They learn and practice different techniques of water ballet. Through continued practice and perseverance, the girls perfect their techniques. Girls interested in joining Blu-Fins are required to do all the standard swimming strokes plus several specified stunts.

In the spring of the year, the girls put on a swimming show, which, as usual, was a huge success. With the help of Miss Marilyn Anderson, their sponsor, the older, more experienced swimmers compose skits and numbers that make up the show. All Blu-Fins, however, take part in this show. Sylvia Bourque is the general chairman of the show. Other officers are Kathy Mumford, president; Pat Fiorenzo, secretary; and Linda Conterato, treasurer.

Senior Members Sylvia Bourque (shown) and Kathy Mumford, under the water, practice a stunt called "ballet legs". This, along with other water stunts, was incorporated into the annual swim show.

Dancers learn rhythm, grace, poise

To develop poise, rhythm, grace and creativity through dance was the purpose of the Orchesis Club. Sponsored by Mrs. Mary Roberts, the club studied many forms of dance in order to appreciate and understand the historical, geographic and other contributing factors found in contemporary dance. The club learned dance techniques and methods of choreography.

Orchesis provided dances and dancers for plays, musicals, club meetings and community organizations which requested entertainment. All members have to have a "B" average in selected techniques to be eligible for membership in the group. They also must have excellent timing and coordination.

Intramurals prepare girls for future

Sponsored by Miss Nancy Kloss and Miss Geraldine Staab, the newly formed Girls Intramurals provided girls with an opportunity to learn new activities that may be of use to them in their leisure time. The program was set up by the club's sponsors based on a survey given to each girl at Bloom.

The club met every Tuesday and Thursday and any girl who was a student at Bloom qualified for membership. It strove to unite Frosh-Soph girls more closely with the Junior-Senior girls through planned sports activities. Special events during the 1967-68 school year were a swimming 'nite', a slumber party held in the gym area, and an intramural gym party for all students. A skating party was held in the winter and a picnic in the spring. Highlighting the year's activities was an intramural co-ed volleyball tournament that was such a success it will be continued next year. This year Bloom was host for the South Suburban League Play Day, in which seven other schools participated. In the spring, the girls attended a sports day at Eisenhower and a workshop at Richards High School.

The City of Bloom has long been a vital, productive part of the school. This year was no exception as the council members met regularly with the City of Bloom officers. Heading the City of Bloom during the 1967-68 school year was Mayor Dan Fowler. The Mayor was assisted by Commissioners Charles Donovan, Harold Luecke, Felix Stallings, Maria Petrarca, and Dennis Brennan. Other very important members of the council were the clerk, Kathy Fields, Sergeant-at-Arms Jim Low, and Parliamentarian David Williams.

During the school year the City of Bloom sponsored their traditional activities and instituted some new ones. Such annual events as Pep-O-Rama, the Homecoming Dance, and Student Council Week were all huge successes. Again this year, delegates from Bloom attended the Northeast District Convention, the Niles West Leadership Conference, and the Illinois Association of Student Councils Convention. The Student Council raised money towards its scholarships, awarded annually to two deserving Bloom seniors on the basis of scholarship, need, and participation in school activities. New innovations were date passes for Bloom dances, Potato Chip Days, a Bermuda Shorts Day, and a hall decorating competition.

Bloom's highest scholastic honor is election to the National Honor Society. Qualifying seniors must have a 3.0 grade average and high standards in leadership, character, and scholarship. Using these criteria, faculty members carefully evaluate and elect those students who they believe meet these standards. Qualifying juniors are required to have a 3.5 grade average.

Newly elected members were honored this year at the annual induction ceremony and tea. Other activities this year include members acting as guides for the P.T.A. Open House and a fund raising drive for Chicago's educational Television station, WTTW.

This year's officers were Kathleen Fields, president; Virginia Bonnin, vice-president; Renate Koehn, secretary; and Lynette Herman, treasurer. Miss Annette Gioannini sponsored the National Honor Society.

The international journalism honorary organization, "Quill and Scroll" elected ten Bloom Students to its membership this year. To be eligible for election to this organization, one must contribute to either the Bloom Annual or the Broadcaster, have a ranking in the upper third of his class, and be recommended by the adviser of his publication. Students must have worked on the Broadcaster or Annual for at least one year. Dick Laya and Mike Downey were elected to the Quill and Scroll in their junior years and served as co-editors their senior year. Six of the new members worked with sponsor Mr. Barton Herr, on the Bloom Annual staff.

Tower staff produces literary magazine

To encourage creativity and good writing among Bloomites by publishing an annual literary magazine containing student work was the purpose of the Tower Staff. The staff met after school to analyze, judge, and edit voluntary creative pieces submitted to them as possibilities for the magazine. At the end of the year this magazine which contained choice works was distributed to all students free of charge. To have qualified as a member of the staff a student must have had an interest in creative work, a good grade average, and a desire to work on such a publication.

Preserving the memories of the past year's activities and events was the goal of the Bloom Annual staff. The members of this staff met daily during the ninth period in order to achieve this goal. Under the guidance of a new advisor, Mr. Barton Herr, and through many hours of hard work and planning, the staff was able to produce the finished product in time for distribution in August.

Everyday during the ninth period the Broadcaster staff met in order to produce Bloom's bi-weekly newspaper. After interviewing for and writing stories, the staff also had to arrange and plan the pages. This year additional members met during the fourth-fifth periods to plan for the newly-innovated advertising. The success of the newspaper could not have been achieved without Miss Kathleen Moyzis, advisor.

Hard at work are Mary Pignotti, Debbie Reynolds, and Teri Gaby planning pages for their sections of the yearbook.

The American Field Service (AFS) is organized to bring students from other countries to the United States, as well as send American students abroad. The Bloom AFS club raises money for the organization on both local and national levels. The members participate in many fund-raising activities such as selling candy at football and basketball games, and Christmas cards during the holiday season. All profits from the musical "Bye Bye, Birdie" were given to the AFS club.

Fresia Harbauer from Peru and Borje Persson from Sweden were the exchange students attending Bloom this year. The officers who were responsible for making this year a successful one were: (at the Fresh-Soph Division) Gail Kline, Pres.; Melissa Cotton, Vice Pres.; Beverly Kasper, Treas.; and Peggy Hoerntlein, Sec.; (at the Junior-Senior Division) Noelia Vela, Pres.; Gail Newhouse, Vice-Pres.; Teri Gaby, Sec.-Treas.; and Cheryl Williams, Historian. Putting a girl in Greece through high school was one of the FTA's major projects. The club sent tuition to the Save the Children Foundation for the education of this sixteen year old girl. The FTA also raised funds for a scholarship for a deserving student teacher. The Teacher-aid Program was the determining factor for the distribution of this scholarship.

In the Teacher-aid Program students assist those teachers that are willing through different tasks in the classroom. The FTA members earn points by passing out papers, giving lectures to classes, filing, or typing after school.

Vocational opportunity shown in VICA, DE

The purpose of VICA is to unite in common bond all students in trade and industrial education; to develop leadership abilities through participation in educational, vocational, civic, recreational, and social activities; to foster a deep respect for the dignity of work; to assist students in establishing realistic vocational goals; to help students attain a purposeful life; to create enthusiasm for learning; and to promote high standards in trade ethics workmanship, scholarship, and safety.

Also, to develop the ability of students to plan together, organize and carry out worthy activities and projects through use of the democratic process; to foster a wholesome understanding of the functions of labor and management organization and a recognition of their mutual independance; and finally, to develop patriotism through a knowledge of our Nation's heritage and the practice of democracy.

Officers were Rick Goncher, president; Dan LeLuga, vice-president; Linda Terry, secretary; and Rodney Wontor, treasurer. Club sponsors were Mr. Paul Cosenza and Mr. Dean Wertz.

The Distributive Education program, usually referred to as D.E., has been a part of business education at Bloom for eleven years. Under this plan, seniors who have indicated an interest in employment in the retailing field attend school during the first portion of the day. One of their classes is in fundamentals of merchandising and retailing. During the latter part of the day they are employed by a cooperating business in the community. The activities of the classroom and the work experience are coordinated by C. W. Lawrence, director of the program.

In addition to the normal classroom routines, the D.E. students operate as a class centered club. The officers for the school year 1967-68 were Larry Tedford, president; Judi Burton, vice-president; Barbara Allie, secretary; and Clara Brookins, treasurer.

The final major activity of the year was the Employer-Employee dinner on Wednesday evening, April 3, at the Holiday Inn. At this annual event, the D.E. students were hosts to their employers, and school and community guests who cooperated in the Distributive Education program.

Various clubs spark student interest

Sponsored by Dale Lawton, the Radio Club provided facilities for learning about and building radio equipment. It also helped members acquire an amateur radio license.

The club had its own radio station and was able to talk with other radio stations in other parts of the world.

Highlighting the year were field trips to radio stations and conducted tours of places connected with electronics. The club also held electronics classes and morse code classes every week.

Highlighting the school year for those who belonged to the Car Club was a field trip to a nearby major drag strip. The members sold candy in the cafeteria to raise money for this excursion. Another project during the year was the building of a slot car drag strip. The purpose of Car Club was to introduce its members to the workings and mechanical equipment of cars. Mr. Seaman was the club sponsor.

Students sharing an interest in the game of chess were given the opportunity to play at the bi-weekly meetings of the Chess Club. Sponsored by Mr. Kriston, the club participated in various chess tournaments with other schools. Newcomers were encouraged to learn the game while those who were experienced were given the opportunity to play.

The Frosh-Soph division Art Club was sponsored by Mr. Jonathan Eley. The only requirement for membership was an interest in drawing, painting, or other art forms. Members worked on projects in which they were interested.

Providing service for teachers in the projection and preparation of audiovisual materials was the purpose of the 1967-1968 projection staff. Recommended by their teachers, students had to have the desire to serve as well as be dependable and industrious. All members were able to operate, repair and assemble all audiovisual equipment.

Under the supervision of Mr. Clayton Smith at the frosh-soph division and Mr. Lloyd Richert at the junior-senior division, members were acquainted with the types of audiovisual equipment in existence and had experience in the operating of such.

Officers for the 67-68 year were: Edward Wengren, president, Wayne Wiedman, vice-president, and Mark Logan, secretary-treasurer. Officers at the junior-senior division were William Jewell, president, Andrew Turner, vice-president, Janet Pizzimenti, secretary, and Howard Johnson, treasurer.

"No, this is the up-staircase," became a familiar phrase to Bloom students when they encountered the Bloom Hall Guides. These students spent their passing periods in keeping order in the halls and stairways. They helped to keep the halls organized and they directed traffic at assemblies.

The duties of the Hall Guides were to show courtesy to others and to work in the interest of both faculty and student. They promote the general welfare of Bloom and help whenever they are needed. The Hall Guides also defend the Bloom School Code.

The Membership was opened to both boys and girls at the beginning of each school year. When they met the requirements they each received a badge which was worn all the time. The qualifications for membership are: average grades, approval of homeroom teacher, approval of counselor, and of the dean.

Because the Hall Guides are a division of Student Council, Felix Stallings, Commissioner of Public Improvements, directed them at the Junior-Senior building. His assistant at the Freshman-Sophomore Building was Joan Campbell.

Science Lab assistants mixed chemicals, cleaned the lab area, and set up materials to be used in experiments in order to aid various science teachers. Office girls for the deans and counselors assisted the secretaries by filing records and doing various other tasks so that more time could be devoted to counseling. Students stationed at the Hospitality Desk aided and gave directions to various visitors to the high school. Each of these groups gave up their study periods so that they were able to better serve Bloom.

Assistants aid various supervisors

Counselors', Deans', and Nurses' assistants sacrificed their study periods to allow their supervisors to do their respective tasks. The office assistants aided the secretaries by filing and doing other minor office work, thus, enabling the counselors and deans to devote their time to counseling. Nurses' assistants aided the nurse by filing cards on students' illnesses and caring for minor problems of students.

Distribution of attendance sheets and collection of absentee slips were two of the duties of the attendance monitors. Announcements were also typed and sorted out for classrooms by these girls. The attendance office kept daily attendance orderly while information gathered by the monitors during the year went into students' records. In order to be a member of this important office group, students must give up valuable study periods.

Directed by Mr. Hippensteel, the Frosh-Soph and Jr.-Sr. Concert Orchestras rehearsed in different buildings but usually combined for performances. A select group from the orchestras provided the accompaniment for the A.F.S. musical, "Bye Bye, Birdie". Selected students also participated in All-State District and State Festival Orchestras. This year, the All State District I, South Festival, was held at Bloom in November.

Other concerts held during the year were the Christmas Concert, Choral Concert and Spring Concert. The money earned from concerts was used to sponsor students to summer music camps and to the All-State Festival Groups.

The Girls' Choir at the Junior-Senior Division had 70 members and the Mixed Chorus consisted of 25 Junior and Senior girls and boys. Both of these organizations participated in the Fall Harvest Concert, caroled through the halls during the Christmas season, and sang in the Spring Concert. Janice Williams and Gail Weibke were the accompanists for the groups.

Three fourths of the 81 members of the A Cappella Choir were seniors. They participated in the Christmas Vespers with the Orchestra, the Spring Concert with the Band and Orchestra, and Commencement. The Choir also served as the chorus in the A.F.S. musical "Bye Bye, Birdie", sang for Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, and had planned a one day tour in May. The Trojanettes and Trojanaires consisted of 17 seniors from A Cappella Choir. They gave about 30 performances during the year for various service clubs, churches, and civic organizations throughout the community. They also participated in the District I South Musical Festival in November. The president of the group was Bruce Werth, the vice-president, Debbie Biesboer, and the secretary-treasurer, Rosemary Barrett. Carol Ashley was the accompanist and Louis Pignotti was the Student Manager. Mrs. Jean Workman directed all choral groups at the Jr. Sr. Division.

Dr. Barnhart completes third year

Dr. Richard E. Barnhart

Bloom's superintendent, Dr. Richard E. Barnhart is completing his third year as the chief administrator of the high school. Since coming to Bloom, Dr. Barnhart has brought about a revision of the administrative organization of the district with particular emphasis upon increasing the effectiveness of the teacher recruitment program and also the development of an improved program of instructional supervision. To this end, a division of curriculum and instruction has been created with Dr. Alex Feldvebel as director. A basic objective of this administrative change is the development of programs which will ensure constant improvement in instruction at Bloom High School.

Bloom is facing a serious financial crisis and a great deal of Dr. Barnhart's time during this school year has been devoted to working with the administration and school board, in bringing about the successful passage of a measure which will raise the educational tax levy for Bloom.

There are many problems that must be solved if Bloom is to continue as an outstanding high school and under Dr. Barnhart's capable leadership and the help of the school board the situation will improve.

Mr. Paul Davies, assistant principal, and Mr. Eugene Neubauer, principal at the Freshman-Sophomore Division, talk over one of the many problems they are faced with.

Mr. John Smith, Dean of Boys, and Miss Juanita Schoff, Dean of Girls, confer after a hard days work at the Junior-Senior Division.

Board, PTA work to improve Bloom

Bloom High School PTA

To develop a closer relationship between home and school was the main function of the Parent-Teacher Association. Frequent meetings, headed by Mrs. William McGovern, President, held during the 67-68 school year, allowed parents to become better acquainted with school personnel. The PTA sponsored its annual spaghetti dinner and the profits were used for its scholarship fund.

Putting their time and effort into practical plans, the Board of Education worked to promote unity between the two divisions, it began new programs in education, and sought to find a solution to the financial situation that faces Bloom. Mr. Blair Peterson, who had served a total of eight years on the Bloom Board, was replaced in April by Mrs. Farol Opie.

The smooth functioning of all phases of life at Bloom does not just happen. Having good teachers, a well-kept building, and a highly rated academic program are things which have to be carefully planned and executed. The responsibility for all these things belongs to Bloom's Administrative staff.

Bloom's Administrative staff functions as a team, each of its members playing a significant role. The Principal of the Junior-Senior Division and the Assistant Principal are responsible for the administration of that building. This year, Dr. Alex Feldvebel is serving as Director of Curriculum and Instruction and Mr. Edward Buchner assumed full responsibility for overseeing all of the business details of the school, a job that is very important, considering the financial difficulties of our school.

Throughout the school year, many students refer themselves or are referred by others for guidance services. These services are provided by an excellent staff of qualified and certified personnel. Bloom has been very fortunate in having a staff that is recognized throughout the state and country for its level of competence and effectiveness.

The kinds of service guidance counselors provide for students include the counseling service, the information service, testing service, and placement and follow-up service. Often students want to discuss educational, vocational, personal, or social matters with helpful adults. Through counseling, the guidance counselors meet such needs.

The information service provided by the counseling staff has proved effective in helping students find suitable schools, scholarships, and jobs.

In Memoriam

Mrs. Emerson walked this world with dignity and purpose. As a counselor she was kind, helpful, and sympathetic. To her professional colleagues she was warm, friendly and good. To a remarkable degree her professional career demonstrated that an active woman can accomplish intellectual and social tasks and still retain a broad, balanced outlook on life, and without losing those tender feminine attributes of mind and soul.

During the last few months all of us were impressed by her quiet courage and indomitable spirit. Though her work was unfinished she went, as she would choose to go, a burden to none and with her shoulder to the wheel, content in the thought that as long as she could do so she was where she wanted to be, doing what she loved to do.

Cafeteria corps feed hungry Bloomites

Cafeteria workers at the Junior-Senior Division.

This year Bloom's cafeteria was placed under the direction of Miss Bonnie Pohlman. Serving lunch for approximately four thousand hungry people was not an easy job, but Miss Pohlman seemed to have taken over with ease. Miss Pohlman was in charge of a staff of forty-seven women both at the Junior-Senior Division and at the Frosh-Soph Division.

The staff was divided into departments: women who worked as cashiers; the salad, sandwich, dessert, cooking, and dishwashing departments.

Custodians care for grounds and buildings

Three hungry growing boys at the Freshman-Sophomore Division are buying their hot lunches. A cafeteria worker waits for the students' requests for the food that they want.

Bloom's buildings and grounds are kept in order by a maintenance staff under the direction of Mr. Noble Rorer. There are a total of fifty-six on the staff, including a secretary, two matrons, and the custodians. This staff is at work constantly for Bloom and the students.

The Freshman year is a very important year of high school. The students or newcomers have to adjust to a new daily schedule; a new routine which they will carry throughout their four years. There were many trying times as a Freshman as well as moments that they will always remember. The "Freshman Mixer" was the first major event of the year. Then there was the election of class officers in the fall of the year.

The class officers for the 1967-1968 school year were Lynn Perry, president; Randy Doggett, vice president; Jackie Condon, secretary, and Jane Monteith, treasurer. They worked together and led the Freshman class with the assistance and guidance of their class sponsor, Mrs. Tillotson.

During the year, the Freshmen held a dance for both the Freshmen and Sophomores. This was on February 6, and their special guest was a Chicago Heights disc jockey, Billy Bauler. Another big event was the Mardi Gras they held on February 27.

Through the events that took place this year, the Freshman Class has shown their "Blooming" Trojan Spirit.

Sophomores profit from candy, bake sales

The second annual Sophomore Hootenanny, sponsored by the English department at the Frosh-Soph division was the major event of the school year. Entertainment was provided by talented teachers and students. Other successes of the school year included a mixer, a bake sale, and a candy sale held in October which brought the class a profit of $1,700.

Under the direction of Mrs. Shirley Holloway, class sponsor, members of the sophomore class participated in various drives and contributed their time and abilities to working on committees for dances such as the Homecoming. During the year they worked in concession stands during football and basketball games and they sold pencils with basketball schedules on them. Several sophomores were also invited to serve at the Junior Prom, held in May.

Elections for class officers for the following year were held in the spring. The sophomores have gained valuable experiences that will help them to follow in the true Bloom tradition.

Between the time a student is a Sophomore and a Senior, there is a period of time known as the Junior Year. During this time a Junior student may take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, College Board Exams, the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, and other tests to prepare for the rugged road to college. Then, too, comes the seemingly endless hours of homework; and finally trying to find the time to put their share of work into Junior Class projects.

With the weight of these responsibilities on its shoulders, the Class of 1969, sponsored by Walter Kuras, has managed to come out on top in their endeavors. During the year, the class sold football jerseys, basketball pencils, decals, and held the largest candy sale in the history of Bloom, grossing over $7,000 in a single sale. One might ask, "But what is the reward for all of this hard work?" The Junior Class can only answer with, "The biggest event of the year—THE PROM!"

Seniors are "Trojan Spirit"

With the reception of their diplomas, the graduating Class of 1968 ended another chapter in the annals of Bloom Township High School. After their graduation in June, these students went on to college, trade school, service, and occupations with different firms and companies.

During the early part of the year, Senior girls honored their mothers at the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet, "What Are Mothers Made Of?" The Senior Class Play, "Teahouse of the August Moon," will be remembered by every member of the Class of 1968. An old but often thought of activity was the Junior Prom, "Camelot."

The sale of booster buttons for the Thornton basketball games was one of the major fund-raising projects carried on by the Senior Class. Running the concession stand during one of the football games and several basketball games helped the Class to a better outlook on the year. For the first time in the history of Bloom, there was a hall decorating contest to see which class had the most school spririt. The Senior Class won the first "spirit trophy" and started a new tradition at Bloom.

Now, as the Seniors look back on their past fruitful four years of life at Bloom, they can say, "We're from Bloom and couldn't be prouder!"

Special scenes of senior life

Lotus Blossom (Maria Petrarca) seems very indignant at what Seiko (Alan Lundell) has said. This is one of the many funny scenes during rehearsal for the Senior Class Play, Teahouse of the August Moon.

What Are Moms Made Of was the theme of the Mother-Daughter Banquet. Mothers and their Senior daughters enjoyed humorous skits and a delicious meal.

Seniors chuckle over some shared secrets during Miss Render's ninth hour English Literature class.

Here they are . . . the guilty ones

The Seniors responsible for this book are: SEATED, Debbie Reynolds; STANDING, Mary Pignotti, Connie Williamson, Rick Werner, Lynette Herman, and Meg McKillip.

The year is finally over and the last few pages have been mailed. After months of planning, sweating, worrying and playing around, we finished the book.

Our special thanks go to Mr. Frank Buchtel and Mike Downey for their help with the sports section. We would also like to express our appreciation to Mr. Ed Hackelman and Mr. Bart Murphy, representatives from the American Yearbook Company, for their help in the planning and layout of this book.

Big thanks go to Mr. Barton Herr, our sponsor, for catching our little mistakes, and for putting up with the Saturday Morning Annual Staff, while we caught up on last month's deadline.

1968 Annual Staff

3 retiring teachers contribute 64 years

(above) Mr. Buchtel gazes at the Bloom Athletic Board which lists head coaches at Bloom. (right) Mr. and Mrs. Buchtel, Mrs. DiSandro, and Mr. and Mrs. Rezabek were honored at the annual retirement tea sponsored by the Faculty Association.

A man's accomplishments are his tributes, and Frank Buchtel has had many since he came to Bloom from Aurora College in 1941. In his 27 years at Bloom, Mr. Buchtel was frosh-soph football coach for 14 years, J-V basketball coach for 10 years, and during his 9 years as assistant track coach, he handled two state championship teams.

Mr. Buchtel taught Physical Education during his first 14 years at Bloom and in 1955 he became Physical Education Director. In 1959, Mr. Buchtel was appointed the Athletic Director.

Mr. Buchtel's skill as an organizer was established when Bloom played host to the District track meets and Regional basketball tournaments. He was also founder and organizer of the Bloom "Hall of Fame."

The Frank Buchtel trophy was dedicated this year as a tribute to his outstanding service. It will be awarded annually to the outstanding athlete at Bloom, a very fitting way not only to honor the athlete but to honor the man who did as much for Bloom—Frank W. Buchtel.

of service to Bloom

Mr. Frank Buchtel, retiring head of the athletic department, stands proudly next to the new Buchtel.

Mrs. DiSandro has spent 21 of her 30 years in the teaching profession as a member of the Homemaking Department at Bloom. She taught at Sesser, Stonington, and Blue Island, Illinois, as well as in Wisconsin. Then she came to Bloom in 1947 as Miss Carley. During the Christmas vacation in 1963 she was married and returned to Bloom as Mrs. DiSandro. She has taught at the Fresh-Soph. Division since its opening four years ago. Her twenty-one years of service to Bloom is certainly appreciated.

In September of 1952, Miss Chapman joined the Bloom faculty as a member of the Business Education Department. She came to Bloom via teaching experiences in Nebraska and Michigan. For the sixteen years she contributed her time and energy to Bloom.

Miss Chapman returned to Nebraska for the Christmas holiday in December of 1960, but she returned to Bloom as Mrs. Rezabek in January of 1961. As she leaves Bloom to seek new goals we wish her the best in her new "fields" of endeavor.

An Ode to the Annual Staff

Among the many Annual staffs who tell their tales of woe,
This was the staff that produced their annual very, very slow.
With a staff composed of a wicked nine,
there were problems left and right,
But with courage, work, and a lot of luck,
it got finished late one night.
The staff that put it together were a deserving bunch of kids,
Sacrificing everything for that book,
including their egos and ids.
There was Misspelled Megan and Demanding Deb along with Mental Mary,
Not to mention Vivacious Vick, Reckless Rick, and Twinkle Toes Connie (who could dance like the Sugar Plum Fairy) Loudmouth Lynette, Teri the Turtle, and Looney Lynn were the rest of the crafty crew,
They racked their brains everyday to think of an idea that was new.
They worked very hard so that one day they could proudly proclaim,
"The Annual's finished; and although we're not,
the world is still the same."
